Industrial Fund Drive Is Officially Underway

The drive for the $250,000 Hempstead County Industrial Foundation fund was underway today following a "kick-off breakfast" at Hotel Barlow in which 45 finance chairmen received pledge cards and final instructions for the campaign.

It is hoped the entire $250,000 can be subscribed during the month of December. The forty-five chairmen representing that many different types of businesses and professions began a solicitation of their assigned list.

Each business firm has been assigned a quota with 10 per cent down and the balance at 10 per cent each year until paid in full.

Following the campaign, a stockholders meeting will be held and permanent officers and directors elected. Stock certificates at 10 per share will be issued each year.

Temporary chairman Vincent W. Foster was in charge of the meeting today. He briefly explained the campaign and was followed by B. N. Holt, temporary secretary-treasurer who explained the pledge cards and the bookkeeping system.

Attorney Albert Graves told of the legal work involved, and pointed out that any stockholder desiring to have his or her name on the original articles of incorporation may do so by signing at the chamber of commerce office not later than next Wednesday.

Today's meeting was brought to a close by Chancery Judge James H. Pilkinton who expressed confidence that Hope would meet the $250,000 challenge.

"We demonstrated that we could work together on the Millwood Dam project and made our influence felt all the way to the halls of congress, and I feel sure by working together on the industrial fund we will reach our objective."

"Such a fund will place us on a par with some other Arkansas towns which have already raised industrial funds and are now enjoying the fruits of their campaigns. Opportunities will come to us. New and expanded local industry will bring new zest, new life and benefits to all of us. We can't afford to fail," Judge Pilkinton declared.

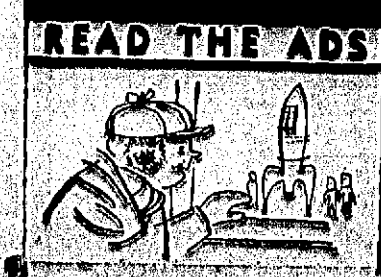

City Manager Is Kiwanis Speaker

A program of good government begins with the electorate in choosing capable men to the board of city directors and then extends to every department of the city government in the execution of a well-planned program of work, Garland Medders, city manager, told the Kiwanis club at its Tuesday luncheon meeting.

Knowledge, training and honesty in every department of the city government with a high sense of morale are among the essentials that bring the best results, Mr. Medders pointed out in his first appearance before the civic club.

His talk revolved mainly around good relationship and a well-planned program of work instead of a comparison between city-council type of government and the city manager plan.

Guests of the club: Julius Adams, high school principal; and Tom Hughes.

Ike Names Deputy Atty. General

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today picked U.S. Dist. Judge Lawrence E. Walsh of New York to be deputy attorney general.

The President gave Walsh, 45, a recess appointment. A formal nomination will be sent to the Senate when Congress reconvenes next month.

Walsh, who has been serving as district judge for Southern New York, succeeds William P. Rogers, who was promoted to attorney general when Herbert Brownell resigned.

Walsh and Rogers conferred with Eisenhower shortly before the White House announcement of Walsh's new job. Both Rogers and Walsh were present in the office of White House press secretary James C. Hagerty when the news was notified of Walsh's selection.

Hagerty told reporters the appointment gave him great personal pleasure, because "Eddie (sic) and I worked together for quite some time."

Hagerty was press secretary to Thomas E. Dewey, then governor of New York, before joining Eisenhower's staff. He did not say just when he and Walsh were associated.

Girl Scouts to Sell Christmas Trees

The entire proceeds from the sale of several hundred Christmas trees in Hope this season will go to the Girl Scouts of Hope for the repair and remodeling of their scout hut at Fair Park.

The Christmas tree project is sponsored by the Hope Kiwanis club, but the Key-Clubbers and the Girl Scouts will have charge of the selling campaign.

The Girl Scout hut has been in need of repair for several months, but the organization has been without funds. The hut is located in Fair Park.

The Christmas trees are expected to arrive the latter part of the week, and the selling campaign is expected to get into full swing next week.

Stuttgart Rejects City Manager Plan

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Voters rejected a proposed switch from the mayor-council to the city manager form of government in a special election here yesterday.

The unofficial count was 202 against and 243 in favor — a difference of 19 votes.

Mayor-elect Lloyd McCollum favored the city manager proposal. He will take office Jan. 1, succeeding Mayor Harry S. Ragland Jr.

America Still Doesn't Have Name for Satellite

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has the Sputnik but we still don't have a name for our own satellite.

This is not the fault of the American people. A newspaper writer — this one, as a matter of fact, invited suggestions some weeks ago and the replies are still coming in. Very ingenious, many of them. The public applied itself.

"Trouble is not many of the suggestions are likely to appeal to those in authority. They tend to be a bit sarcastic, to point up the fact that this country was a couple of months behind a certain other great power in getting a baby moon operating."

C. J. McQuade, managing editor of the Beckley W. Va. Raleigh Register, suggests the name "Foree."

"The spelling is right or wrongly identified with the American government. Too, it sometimes denotes late comers for one reason or another set in a hurry," he explained.

"Just name it 'The Laggard,'" proposes Palmer P. Vaughan of Charleston, S. C. — an idea that may not appeal to the planners of Navy Operation Vanguard, which was given the job of getting the moonlet and others like it off the ground.

"The name, naturally would be 'Disputnik,'" gives Ed Rutherford of Nazareth, Pa.

"Why not call ours 'Mc To?'" inquires Ralph D. Bratton of San Francisco.

Jim Murphy of Santa Barbara, Calif., comes up with "Tortoise." And Dick Gibbons of the Battle Creek (Mich.) Enquirer and News suggests either "Mad Bull" or "Continued on Page Two"

CHICAGO (AP) — Miss Joe Ann Koettel and David Bowman, two 16-year-olds from Newport, Ark., received honors at the 30th National 4-H Club Congress here yesterday.

Miss Koettel got a $400 scholarship for outstanding work in the 4-H health program.

Bowman won an all-expense trip to the Congress for his work in the 4-H home grounds beautification program.

AFL-CIO Asked Not to Expel the Teamsters

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — AFL-CIO building trades unions today called on the parent federation to cancel an expulsion threat for the corruption-charged Teamsters Union.

Delegates to the Building and Construction Trades Department convention voted overwhelmingly to call on the AFL-CIO to rescind the present suspension status of the Teamsters and cancel the threat to expel the giant truck union entirely from the federation.

The Teamsters have been under a year's investigation in public hearings before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington. Testimony in the hearing has linked James R. Hoffa, the union's president-elect, and Dave Beck, outgoing Teamsters president, with misusing vast sums of union funds and otherwise abusing their powers.

The resolution said suspension and threatened expulsion of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO "threatens the unity of labor during a period when all labor is under attack—we consider the action against the teamsters as a dangerous precedent which threatens the continued autonomy of our own international unions."

Some union leaders said the resolution was not binding on how building trades unions may cast their votes at the AFL-CIO convention on the Teamsters expulsion.

It was still regarded as almost a certainty that the Teamsters will be expelled, barring any sudden move on the truck union's part to oust Hoffa, Beck and others and launch a union clean-up drive. Expulsion at the AFL-CIO convention takes a two-thirds vote.

The Teamsters will not be allowed to vote on their own expulsion.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council was meeting to recommend formal expulsion of the Teamsters, which claims a tenth of the federation's 15-million membership.

The council was acting on corruption charges developed in months of hearings.

It also was expected to vote Continued on Page Two

Garbage King Indicted for Extortion

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Vincent J. Squillante, under fire on several fronts as the kingpin of the New York Metropolitan garbage disposal racket, was indicted today on extortion charges.

Indictments of Squillante and five other men were disclosed in the early morning hours after a night session of an extraordinary Nassau County grand jury sitting in this Long Island commuter suburb.

Squillante, 40, already was in jail in New York City on a years-old federal income tax charge.

He refused to talk in Washington before a Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management. The committee was inquiring into mobster control of a large segment of the 50-million-dollar-a-year garbage carting industry in the New York City Metropolitan area.

One count in the indictment against Vincent Squillante charges him with a $5,000 shakedown of Anthony and John Montecano, brothers and owners of the East Meadow Sanitation Co., on threats of forcing them out of business and harming their children.

The Montecano brothers recently were cooperative witnesses before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington.

Other indictments counts involve mobster control of the row of department stores and specialty shops in Manhattan — dubbed the "Miracle Mile."

The grand jury charged that four stores were picked in a move to force them to discontinue their existing garbage contracts and sign up with members of the now-defunct Inter-City Garbage Assn., a Squillante enterprise.

Israel, Jordan Dispute May Be Near Settlement

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel held up dispatch of a supply convoy to Mt. Scopus today amid unconfirmed reports that a solution of its dispute with Jordan might be imminent.

The convoy dispute has threatened to flare up into shooting and brought U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld flying to the Middle East.

Reports from the Jordan side of Jerusalem said Israeli authorities issued instruction to prepare for the departure of a convoy through Jordan lines and that it might be sent tomorrow or in the next few days. Prior notice to Jordan authorities is necessary so they can prepare the necessary escort.

There was a strict news blackout.

But a usually well-informed source said Hammarskjöld yesterday had made a compromise proposal which was rejected by Israel.

An Israeli government spokesman said only that "the problem is still under discussion."

A Jordan army officer in the old city of Jerusalem said the convoy had been canceled for today.

Jordan raised two weeks ago a gasoline-carrying convoy to go through Jordan territory to Israeli-held Mt. Scopus just north of Jerusalem.

There were no signs at Mandelbaum Gate, the border crossing point into Jordanian territory, that a convoy was expected today. Jordan turned back the last convoy two weeks ago because it carried nine drums of gasoline.

Jordanian officials charged the gas would be used in connection with fortification work prohibited by the Palestine armistice.

Israel denied that any military work was involved. Her spokesman said the gasoline would be used to run an electric generator.

Admits 'Old Folks' Paid in $28,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A former Independence County judge said yesterday that his organization had collected some $28,000 from elderly and indigent people since it was formed in July, 1955.

Forrest Jeffery of Batesville, appearing before an investigative committee of the Arkansas Legislative Council, said that the total had been paid in memberships, which cost $1 each, to the Arkansas Federation of Old Folks, Inc.

The committee, headed by Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock, was set up to investigate charges that some organizations had collected money from welfare recipients by claiming credit for an increase in state welfare payments.

Rep. John Brehall of Prairie County said, "There are many old people in my county who have paid one, two or three dollars to such an organization — and I doubt if it has done them any good. There may have been some benefit, but, if so, I don't know of it."

Jeffery said that the organization represents and no surplus at present but had spent all of its money contacting members of the General Assembly and Congress, in printing and in other promotional activities.

After an executive session the committee said in a statement that "the number of individual complaints from recipients of old age assistance requested to pay organizations for help in getting increases in their old age assistance checks justifies continuance" of the probe.

Another Legislative Council committee voted to ask the Highway Department for information on costs borne by various types of highway users in connection with efforts to get more revenue from heavy trucks.

Neill Bollinger, a Highway Department attorney, urged the committee to proceed cautiously in efforts to increase taxes against trucks.

"This is a pretty technical subject and you are going to be facing some pretty smart boys," Bollinger said.

Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County said the Legislature has been "bucking the most powerful lobby in existence" in previous attempts to impose a ton-mile or weight-distance tax on trucks.

Witnesses Called in Hoffa Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man who played a major role in deciding which delegates could vote at the Teamsters Union's Miami Beach convention was called for quizzing in federal court today.

The witness, Joseph Konowe of New York, served as secretary of the Credentials Committee at the convention which elected James R. Hoffa president.

Judge F. Dickinson Lettis is hearing without a jury a suit by 13 rank-and-file Teamster members from the New York area to avoid the election of Hoffa and other officials on the grounds the convention was rigged.

Stories of beatings, dynamitings and other violence came into testimony yesterday from Brownie Moore and Charles E. Stewart Jr., both of Teamsters Local 327 at Nashville, Tenn.

Moore testified he had the "heck knocked out me" because of his opposition to officers of the local headed by Dan Vestal. He said Vestal was installed as trustee by W. M. (Dusty) Miller, chairman of the Teamsters Southern Conference. Vestal subsequently was elected president of the local with the backing of international representatives, the witnesses testified.

Youth May Be Sent to State Hospital

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Prosecuting attorney Ted S. Coxey of Berryville today said that he planned to seek a commitment to State Hospital for Gary Earl Bright, who killed three members of his family near here last week.

Coxey said the 12-year-old boy would be given a 30-day mental examination. If the boy is found sane, Coxey said he would decide then what further action to take.

On the morning of Nov. 20, Gary shot to death his mother, Mrs. Jewell Irene Bright, 34, a sister. Then he turned the small caliber rifle on himself.

Coxey said he talked to Gary yesterday at Bates Memorial Hospital here, where the boy is recovering from a chest wound.

The prosecutor said Gary's story was similar to that told to a neighboring family shortly after the shooting. That he became enraged when his mother woke him and told him to round up the family cows for milking.

Coxey said he believed any proceedings against Gary, including the proposed commitment to State Hospital, would be handled in Juvenile Court because of the boy's youth. He said he had not made a final decision, however.

He said he had confirmed that the boy is 12 and will be 13 on Jan. 8. The age had been listed previously as 13.

Gary's father, Earl Bright, was in the hospital after losing a hand in a farm accident when the shooting took place. The elder Bright has been dismissed.

Missing Hunter Found Unconscious

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Carl Turner, 42, of Kennard, found near here last night unconscious and in critical condition from exposure, apparently was recovering today at a Morrilton hospital. Hospital attendants described his condition as improved.

A search party found Turner lying in two inches of water after his family reported him missing on a duck hunt. The sheriff's office said Turner might have suffered a stroke or a heart attack while on his way home from a blind yesterday morning.

Assessors in Meet, Talk Over Problems

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 100 county assessors and a group of Arkansas legislators exchanged information on mutual problems yesterday — especially property taxes.

A major topic was how to change the law so property could be assessed and tax payments made within the same year.

"If a man has the money, that's the time to collect it," said Sen. Ellis Fagan of Little Rock. "But no one in the Legislature has come up with a method to change."

From a system that has been in existence since Arkansas became a state.

Fagan told the seminar sponsored by the Tax Assessment Coordination Division that "sorrow" where along the line you've got to gain a year or lose a year — and that's the main problem."

Sen. James P. Baker of West Helena said a bill is being drawn up to make the necessary changes and would be ready for consideration by the 1959 Legislature.

Final Rites for Officer T. G. Anderson

Wednesday at the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church by the Rev. Mr. Livingston and the Rev. Mr. O'Steen. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius was to be in Anderson Cemetery.

He was a veteran of World War II, member of the American Legion and Garrett Memorial Baptist Church.

Chances for a Successful Firing Good

By VERN HAUGLAND
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The countdown for the nation's first test launching of a satellite passed its halfway point unevenly today and prospects looked good for the blastoff into space about 4 p. m.

The "11-hour countdown of an item-by-item, minute-by-minute checkup of everything on the launching mechanism that might possibly go wrong—began at 5 a. m.

Shortly before 11 a. m., C. H. Schooley, Defense Department information chief, reported that the countdown has passed its halfway mark without major hold or delay.

The weather, while not the best — fairly heavy overcast and winds up to about 15 miles an hour — apparently was not sufficiently bad to interfere with the launching plans.

Schooley said the lengthy check-off period started after several hours of "technical preparations and normal preflight cleanup."

He added that this took a bit longer than had been anticipated.

Paul Walsh, Vanguard deputy director, explained that in the countdown the men in charge of the launching run through a check list of 21,000 items, pages. . . . As the launching hour approaches, the count is advanced to every five minutes, then to every minute and finally to seconds.

This is a very busy time to check to see that each part for which he is responsible is functioning as it should at a given moment of time.

"Holds" are so frequent and so routine that it is rare for a launching to be accomplished in the exact time allowed.

Workers said no major troubles had developed but a myriad of minor electrical difficulties — frayed wires, short circuits and the like — had.

Much of the difficulty was with Continued on Page Two

Not all the suggestions are of a scolding nature, to be sure. Dallas Brightwell of Frankfort, Ky., offers "Benik" as a tribute to both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Doubtless there is food for thought in all these proposed names. But none, somehow, taps you in the back of the head like good old "Sputnik," to say nothing of the later "Multnik."
"Sputnik" is, of course, nothing more or less than the Russian word for "satellite." Maybe we'd be well-advised to follow the Russians' example, stop trying to be clever and just call a spade a spade—or, in this case, a satellite satellite.
Maybe "satellite" sounds as crazy to the Russians as "Sputnik" does to us.

expulsion recommendations for the Bakery, Laundry and Distillery Workers unions, similarly involved in charges of corruption.
The recommendations will go to the AFL-CIO convention convening here tomorrow.
Expulsion of the four unions, with about 1.4 million members, was mapped by AFL-CIO President George Meany as a demonstration that organized labor can deal effectively with racketeering in labor's ranks.
Meany and other AFL-CIO chiefs hoped it would help them stave off threatened punitive legislation from Congress and warn leaders of other unions against molesting union funds.
The Teamsters, Bakery and Laundry Workers already are under AFL-CIO suspension and their expulsion was regarded as only a formality.
The Distillery Workers Union is under AFL-CIO probation, but ousted leaders of the union recently took over their offices again and the union is expected to face renewed AFL-CIO master proceedings.
In another preliminary to the start of federation convention sessions, the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department planned to act today at its separate convention on resolutions calling for quelling the federation unless jurisdictional troubles are settled.

Rescue Ships Are Racing Hurricane

HONOLULU (AP) — Two ships raced a hurricane today to reach the crippled Greek freighter Margarita Chandris, being blown relentlessly toward the storm's center.
The cargo liner President Monroe and the Navy ammunition ship Rainier were heading for the freighter. The Margarita Chandris was believed to carry a crew of 35 to 40.
The two ships were diverted into the storm area when the 418-foot Margarita Chandris reported yesterday that she was out of control near Hurricane Nina in the mid-Pacific.
The Weather Bureau said the helpless freighter, buffeted by 50 knot winds and lashing waves, would be driven into the hurricane's center.
The ship did not list her damages.
At the hurricane's center were gusts up to 90 knots, the Weather Bureau reported.

Miss Billye Alyce Williams Honored at Morning Party

Mrs. Ben Cora and Little Miss Michelle Core, of DeQueen, Arkansas were hostesses to Miss Billye Alyce Williams, bride-elect of Victor Kenneth Davis Jr., of Baytown, Texas at a morning coffee and kitchen shower Friday at 10 o'clock. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Grady Williams at 622 South Elm.

The bride's table on which the gifts were placed was decorated in the Thanksgiving motif, the centerpiece being an attractive cornucopia filled with bronze mums and fruit. Four glowing yellow tapers were placed around the cornucopia to give a soft glow against the yellow linen tablecloth. Bronze and yellow mums were placed at vantage points throughout the reception room.

The hostesses presented Miss Williams with a corsage of bronze Fugi Mums and Mrs. W. A. Williams, mother of the bride-to-be, with a corsage of pink pom mums. Little Miss Michelle Core also wore a miniature corsage of yellow Fugi mums.

After the honoree had opened and displayed the many lovely gifts, the hostesses served delicious coffee with dainty party date nut twists, petite cinnamon rolls, miniature sausage rolls and cubed ham and turkey tidbits on toothpicks.

Joint Golden Wedding Anniversary For Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vinson and Mrs. P. H. Stephens
At Rogers, Ark. the Thanksgiving dinner table was loaded not only with the traditional turkey but also with not one but two Golden Wedding anniversary cakes.

The two couples honored were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Vinson of Rogers, who were married in Rogers half a century ago, and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Stephens of Blevins who were married 50 years ago in that Southwest Arkansas town.

The joint anniversary dinner was arranged so that Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stephens could attend both. Mrs. Stephens, formerly Lorene Vinson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Vinson. Ernest Stephens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Stephens and is a former Arkansas newspaperman and is at present director of planning of the U.S. Information Agency in Washington, D. C. Paula Brown, Sherry Burke and Ann Arnold led the garden club pledge.

Mrs. Breeding then introduced Mrs. A. A. Albrighton who showed the boys and girls how to make attractive Christmas corsages from materials that can be found in most home lawns or gardens. Nandina berries, privet berries, leaves of evergreens and small pine cones.

Circle 3 WSCS Meets With Mrs. Earl O'Neal

On Monday, Dec. 2, Circle No. 3 of the WSCS, First Methodist Church, held its annual Yuletide meeting. Mrs. Earl O'Neal was the hostess, and she had made her home even lovelier with gold and white Christmas decorations.

The opening prayer was voiced by the Circle Chairman, Mrs. Webb Laseter Jr. During the brief business session, it was announced that the January meeting would be in the home of Mrs. H. C. Kyler Sr., with Mrs. J. D. Walker as co-hostess. Mrs. Herbert Arnold will have charge of the first Bible Study on Mark.

Mrs. V. C. Brown gave an inspiring devotional message, using as her text the Christmas story found in Luke 2. Before the group joined in singing "Silent Night" and "Away in a Manger," accompanied by Mrs. C. C. McNeil at the organ, a few remarks about the people who had written them were made by Miss Mary Anita Laseter.

The Circle Chairman then introduced the guest speaker, Miss Mildred Villa, who presented a sweet story entitled "The Little Guest" by Marjorie Bianco. "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" were sung in unison, following Miss Laseter's brief comments on each author.

For the benediction the group joined hands and sang "Blessed Be The Lord" led by Mrs. V. M. Reardon.

Besides the Circle members, seven guests were served individual cakes decorated with holly, coffee, nuts, and mints. Not only did the group enjoy refreshments during the social hour, but they also heard beautiful appropriate organ music played by Mrs. McNeil.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Do you really believe that a homespun husband who sits near TV fast asleep most of the time, who helps with the housework and children, is true to his wife, and a good provider, can make a happy marriage? He doesn't like company, won't go out and makes home a virtual prison for his wife. Isn't there something wrong with this marriage?

Puppy Love Is Serious but Afflicted Recover

Dear Dorothy Dix: I know I'm not the only girl with this problem. I'm in love, of course, and can think of nothing day or night but Ricky. I can't eat, sleep or study. He goes to school out of town, coming home weekends, which is the only time I see him. We used to date occasionally, but he never asks me out any more. I know he liked me once, and I can't lose hope that the feeling is still alive. I keep making excuses and telling myself he still likes me, and that this weekend he'll get to reach with me. DESPERATE

Dear Desperate: The one consolation of a hopeless, first love, is that it provides such lovely memories for the future. Yes, it does seem paradoxical, but unrequited love does wear well in retrospect. Also, one does recover; the heart takes care of bronkage.

Of course, this isn't the sort of advice you want. You'd like me to provide a magic formula for getting Renny to notice you again. Take you out, fall in love with you. That I don't have. We must accept life on its own terms, which very often isn't what we want, but frequently turns out to be what's best for us.

To speed recovery, make new friends, learn something new, take up an absorbing hobby. Be active at school, and be determined to pick up those falling grades. A new and nearer boy will come along soon; try to have patience.

Dear Dorothy Dix: During the 20 years of my marriage, I've raised five children with very little co-operation from a drunken husband. Whenever I say something to him he tells me to shut my mouth. I think it's about time I met him with a rolling pin, don't you?

Dear C. C.: Better late than never - even if it's 20 years too late. Why didn't you exhibit some of this spunk years ago?

Benjamin Fairless, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, began life as the son of a miner in Pennsylvania.

would think you had a pretty good deal. Absolute perfection is not to be found in the average husband for, may I add, wife) but you have precious little to complain about. Can't you arrange your visiting and entertaining for the daytime hours? Your husband is actually paying you a big compliment by wanting you home with him in the evening, and by preferring his own home to any outside neighbor's. Think how you'd squawk if he took to attending the local tavern every night. Count your blessings, girl, and be grateful.

"I've owed your father this for many years."

Political heat is rising in London and Tokyo, over the disclosure by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that American Air Force planes carry hydrogen bombs when they take off from British bases on patrol. No danger a bomb might explode, Japanese suggested. But American explain why, as he says, there is British leftists want Macmillan to planes and warships operating in their area also carry the bomb. The Socialists are replying to demand that Premier Macmillan Kishi make a statement when he returns Friday from his tour of Southeast Asia.

Sports Outlook

Look for some post-season fireworks from National Football League coaches and owners on the caliber of officiating at games. Some coaches would like to see officials fined for "blatant" errors. This would involve grading just as players are, subject to fines. This would involve grading officials on the basis of the moves which each team makes of every game. One coach claims movies show that an opponent in a five-cent game committed size major infractions in the last four minutes of play — none of them called. The issue may be brought up at the league meeting to be held in January.

Mother Saves Three, 4th Perishes

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A Negro mother saved three children from a burning house yesterday but a fourth, a neighbor's baby, died in the fire. The dead child was a 4-month-old Deborah Wayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nathan Wayne. Mrs. Lois Alexander managed to rescue Diane Wayne, 2, and her two children, Sheila, 1½, and Willie Lavonne, five months. She told firemen she was watching the Wayne children and her own when Mrs. Wayne went to pay a utility bill. She said the fire broke out in the Wayne home while she was in the backyard hanging wash. The house was destroyed.

Leggett's Appeal

A petition for a rehearing occurred March 18, 1937. Ten days later a new act which provides an additional appeal method involving a $10,000 bond was passed. Leggett's appeal does not apply in Leggett's case. The deadline for Leggett's appeal passed six months ago. Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorne Thomas said that he knows of no method by which the appeal could be made. He said he would determine if Leggett is sane would be legally binding. He said he has indicated he will not say a jury.
